

Transcript 文字稿:

This Filipino coffee is definitely not to everyone's taste.

It comes from beans taken from the droppings of these cat-like animals called civets.

When they are eaten, the beans are fermented in the stomach by special enzymes.

Even if you can stomach the fact it's been through an animal, the price may put you off. It can cost almost $800 a kilo.

Vocabulary 词汇:

droppings 动物粪便

fermented 发酵

enzymes 酶

to stomach 能承受

put (you) off 失去兴趣

中文文字稿:

看来这种菲律宾咖啡并不适合每个人的口味。

这些咖啡豆原来是源于麝猫,一种猫科类动物的粪便。

咖啡豆被麝猫吃下去后,在它的肚子里由酶进行发酵。

就算你不介意这个咖啡是从动物肠道里出来的,可是价格可能也会让你望而却步。一公斤的咖啡能卖到 800 英镑的高价。

Watch this video online: Bean through an animal <http://bbc.in/yu55dr>

Exercise 练习:

以下练习中的语句全部选自于 BBC 其他网页。

请从下面的词汇表里选择答案来完成句子。

注意：你可能需要改变单词的时态来完成句子。

droppings / fermented / enzymes / to stomach / put (you) off

1. "There is no growth while the public debt is above 82% of GDP. There is no other way but _____ austerity measures."

2. The drink of choice will be tuba - gallons of the liquid have been prepared for visitors and participants. It is a wine made from the _____ sap of the coconut palm.

3. The message, delivered to around 40 would-be entrepreneurs at a workshop in Stratford, east London, is clear: Don't let the bad economic headlines _____.

4. _____ found at two sites along the River Wey in Guildford are proof of the otter's return to the area after 16 years, says Surrey Wildlife Trust.

5. Last year Professor Ole Petersen and colleagues at Cardiff University's School of Biosciences discovered a calcium-like molecule which could boost the pancreas' natural protection against these digestive _____.

Answers 答案:

1. "There is no growth while the public debt is above 82% of GDP. There is no other way but to stomach austerity measures."
2. The drink of choice will be tuba - gallons of the liquid have been prepared for visitors and participants. It is a wine made from the fermented sap of the coconut palm.
3. The message, delivered to around 40 would-be entrepreneurs at a workshop in Stratford, east London, is clear: Don't let the bad economic headlines put you off.
4. Droppings found at two sites along the River Wey in Guildford are proof of the otter's return to the area after 16 years, says Surrey Wildlife Trust.
5. Last year Professor Ole Petersen and colleagues at Cardiff University's School of Biosciences discovered a calcium-like molecule which could boost the pancreas' natural protection against these digestive enzymes.